OUR SHINING STARS CONTINUE TO GROW AND AS PARENTS WE WANT TO CONTINUE TO BUILD OUR TOOLKIT ON SUPPORTING OUR STUDENTS AS THEY EXPRESS THEIR TALENTS AND PASSION

Distance Learning: 8 Tips for Help Your Child Learn at Home

1. Create a learning space for your child
2. Make a schedule and stick to it
3. Reduce distractions
4. Use a calendar and color-code it
5. Get plenty of exercise
6. See which accessibility features help your child
7. Reach out to your child's teacher
8. Look for ways to remove learning barriers

Parents Right to Know

All Title I schools MUST provide parents with: Title I School-Level Parent Plan, Home-School Compact, Title I Annual Parent Input Meeting, Instructional Staff Qualifications. Parents and/or guardians have the right to ask the Principal of their school for the School Improvement Plan in order to review and suggest recommendations to improve academics, parent participation, community involvement, attendance and school safety within their child's school

Please join us in welcoming the newest members of our Central Office Title I Team: Title I Teacher Specialists, Jennie Stevens-Nelson and Laura Vezer!

We are excited to announce that AACPS Title I Office is now a part of the newly created Community and School Programming Department, under the direction of Dr. Shannon Pugh. We will continue the great work we're doing on behalf of our students.

Did you know???

Title I funds support extra instruction in reading and mathematics, additional teachers, materials of instruction, as well as after-school programs to extend and reinforce the regular school curriculum.
